

Good News

Once again we find ourselves in a transition time between Good News Clubs and Good News Camp. During these times, we like to try to take opportunities to do some things as a family. Over Easter, we were able to spend a day at Deep Creek Lake, Maryland. Even though it was a little cold, we were still able to find some fun things to do in one of our favorite places. We also found a lot of good food to eat.

Most of our family time is spent at home, though. We love to watch movies and play games in our house. We have a few shows on TV that we follow as a family and it's fun to look forward to them each week. Like most kids, our kids like their electronics too. The basement playroom that used to hold stuffed animals and toys is now a video game, lego, and computer room. They sometimes disappear down there for hours at a time. Last month, we planted a small garden and it's been exciting to take care of it and watch it grow. We're hoping to have a few more special family times over the next month before camp starts.

Four people sharing one screen can be easy if you know the right way to do it!

- ✓ Pray for the many details that go into planning Good News Camp. The work is equal parts mental and physical and we need God's grace and help for both.
- ✓ Praise for a great year of Good News Clubs. Over the course of the year, we were able to visit nearly every one and each has been a blessing to us.
- ✓ Pray that we will be able to have some special family time in the next few weeks before camp begins.

Cora

As you can (hopefully) see from the picture, Cora's feet spent some time in the sand when she attended "Impact" at Ocean City with the youth group. She really enjoyed her time there.

Caleb and Jacob

The boys were able to take part in some training recently from Open Air Campaigners. They learned how to paint a picture as they tell a Bible story. After two days of learning and practicing, they had it nearly mastered. The next day they were able to put their skills to use in a children's program at a nearby church. They really enjoyed this opportunity and are looking forward to some other chances for ministry.

Olivia

Olivia will have her first guitar recital this month. She will be playing "Come, Now is the Time to Worship" as a duet with another guitar player. She and Jacob are also playing soccer this month. She likes playing offense and Jacob likes being goalie.
